Supporting the Community—Together

At St. Luke's University Health Network, we are always striving to do more to keep you healthy and provide you and your family with world-class care when illness strikes.

This month's stories highlight just a few of the ways generosity and charitable support are helping to meet community need—from expanding cancer care, to investing in local farmers and healthy lifestyles, to helping educate the next generation of physicians.

Thank you for all that you do; we are forever grateful.

Care Close To Home

When your loved one is sick with cancer, you'd travel any distance for their care—but cancer is a disease best treated close to home. That's why St. Luke's is expanding cancer services in Carbon and Schuylkill Counties, including the opening of a brand-new Infusion Center in Lehighton. Generous support from Boutique at the Rink and other thoughtful donors helped make it all possible.

Coming This Fall

Delivering Healthy Choices

For busy St. Luke's employees, fresh produce provided through the Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) program has been a weekly highlight for the past seven years. This year, we're celebrating a huge milestone in our partnership with local farmers.

Six Years Later...

How do you leave a lasting impact? For Dr. Arnold Cook, a desire to help young people led to an incredible donation to Temple/St. Luke's School of Medicine. See how today, even six years after his passing, his gift to the medical school is still making a difference—for our community and his family.

A Gift That Lasts

SHIFTing Public Health

Sometimes the best defense is a good offense—and that's particularly true with respect to your health. That's why St. Luke's launched Get Your Tail on the Trail in 2013 in collaboration with the Delaware & Lehigh National Heritage Corridor. The program helps support you in your efforts to get fit and stay active. Participants have logged more than five million miles—and the program is receiving national recognition.
